

Selendy & Gay Joins Law Firm Sustainability Network

04/22/20

When Selendy & Gay was formed in 2018, we made a commitment to the pursuit of environmental justice. As part of that promise, we are proud to announce that we have joined the Law Firm Sustainability Network, a nonprofit organization of law firms and legal departments that promotes environmental sustainability and corporate social responsibility. As a member firm, we will learn and share essential strategies for reducing our environmental footprint and improving our sustainability.

In the coming year, we will also continue our work with like-minded organizations, including the Natural Resources Defense Council, Vote Solar, and others, to help residential solar customers get fair payments for power they export to the grid; develop legal scholarship on climate change and clean energy issues; and hold accountable those who disregard environmental laws and bring harm to individuals and communities.

To learn more about our environmental work, please visit here.

Practices

- Environmental Litigation
- Public Interest and Pro Bono