

Selendy Gay's Claire O'Brien and Corey Stoughton Join Fund for Modern Courts' Board of Directors

02/17/26

Selendy Gay partner Claire O'Brien and special counsel Corey Stoughton have been elected to the Board of Directors of the Fund for Modern Courts, a nonprofit organization dedicated to improving the efficiency, accessibility, and fairness of the New York State Court system.

As board members, Claire and Corey will contribute to the Fund's efforts to promote reforms that enhance transparency, streamline court processes, and expand access to justice for New Yorkers. Since its founding, the Fund for Modern Courts has played a key role in advocating for policy initiatives, judicial improvements, and public education programs aimed at strengthening the state's courts.

Read more about the organization on the Fund for Modern Courts' website.

Attorneys

- Claire O'Brien
- Corey Stoughton