

Claudia Tobler Featured in Law.com's 'How I Made Partner' Series

10/19/26

Selendy Gay partner Claudia Tobler was recently featured in Law.com's How I Made Partner series, discussing her career in complex litigation and restructuring, the importance of mentorship, and the experiences and relationships that have shaped her professional journey.

Drawing on more than two decades of experience representing clients in sophisticated restructuring matters and distressed situations, Claudia reflected on her career path, including her decision to join Selendy Gay in 2025. She highlighted the firm's collaborative and entrepreneurial culture, its commitment to the rule of law, and the opportunity to bring her restructuring expertise to complex commercial disputes.

Claudia also discussed the mentors who have influenced her career, including fellow Selendy Gay partner Kelley Cornish, and shared her perspective on leadership, professional growth, and the importance of supporting others along the way.

"There's more than one path to partner, and more than one type of partnership. Don't limit yourself to a single path, and don't be afraid of change," Claudia said.
